Teaching Assignment

All high school grades, from Big History to contemporary world problems. Also world history, American history of war, American government and civics.

Area of Expertise

20th Century, especially World War II. Washington State history. My experience with classroom management and classroom systems is also strong. I've developed some tried and true motivational and management strategies that work from middle school through high school.

Background

My career in started in 1994. I graduated from CWU and have a Master's degree from Heritage University. I've taught 5th grade to 12th grade and all subjects.

My certification is broad area history and social studies. I've taught history and social studies for the majority of my career, also worked with students in journalism for over a decade. Currently, my passion is with my student group S.E.R.V.E. which stands for Students Engaged in Reenacting Veterans' Experiences. This group marches in the annual Veterans Day parade in accurate historical uniforms, and put together demonstrations and living history events sharing US military history throughout the year, and learning about American history all the way.
